Attentive service greets customers at this Queen Street fixture, where customer tailoring is a forte. The house label's suits and separates - fashioned from fine silks, stretch suiting and satin-backed microfibres, in a range of neutrals and brights - are suitable for day or evening. All-season looks include the Anastasia jacket and the Swinton dress, both featuring sculptural draping. The evening wear, designed (as all the clothes are) by owners Derek Price and Tess Roman, is striking. The current star is the Athena dress, with its stellar pleated pockets and architectural silhouette, available in colourful silks and woollens.
